Intro about LinkedIn

---

LinkedIn is the best platform for building authority, trust, and inbound opportunities if you use it with consistency.

This playbook is focused on one outcome: help you look credible, publish useful content, grow your network, and turn attention into opportunities.

We keep this simple: profile first, then content, then networking, then offer.

1. Profile Optimisation

Your profile should answer in 5 seconds:

- Who you help
- What result you help them get
- Why they should trust you

Focus on headline, banner, profile photo, and about section. Keep your message specific and proof-based.

2. Content Strategy — Templates 1-2

1. Simplify

Template

People overcomplicate {thing}

Listen, if you're a {experience level}:

Avoid:

- {thing they should avoid}
- {thing they should avoid}
- {thing they should avoid}
- {thing they should avoid}

Instead:

- {thing they should do}
- {thing they should do}
- {thing they should do}

Focus on this for the first {time frame}. Build from there.

2. Generate ideas For Hooks

Template

How you think you should {action} on {social media platform}:

- {Wrong practice}
- {Wrong practice}
- {Wrong practice}

How you actually {action} on {social media platform}:

- Educational content around {pain point}
- Free resources to solve {pain point}
- Consistent value and {proof}

Strong CTA's are good but strong brands are better. Make people WANT to {action} from you. Don't force them.

3. A transformation

Template

{Time frame} ago, I stopped {action}. {Context}.

And no:

- {Misconception 1}
- {Misconception 2}
- {Misconception 3}

In fact, since I stopped {action}:

- {Achievement 1}
- {Achievement 2}
- {Achievement 3}

{Sassy statement}

And {time frame} later, I've never been clearer on my reasons to never {action} again. {Result}

4. Comparative Timeline

Template

Year one: bad result with no action

Year two: positive outcome of action

Stop doing {opposite of action}

Start doing {action}

I did this for {add your time frame}

What's stopping you?

2. Content Strategy — Templates 5-6

---

5. Struggles

Template

There's too many "I made {success}"

But not enough "I struggled doing xyz"

This year I've:

- {fail}
- {fail}
- {fail}

That's the reality of being {who you are}... {Describe the failure}

It's not all black and white... remind people that not everything's perfect.

6. Essentials Tip

Template

How I managed to build a {thing} in < {time frame}:

(100% of {target group} I know agree with this tip)

{your tip/unique insight}

1. {Tip pointer #1}

[action step #1] [action step #2] [action step #3]

Do it for [timeframe], watch your life change completely.

3. Networking

Networking on LinkedIn works best when you add value before asking for anything.

- Build a target list of people in your niche
- Comment meaningfully on their posts consistently
- Connect after real interaction, not cold pitching
- Reply to every quality interaction on your own posts

This builds trust, visibility, and warm inbound conversations over time.

Adding Industry Titans

Create a Target List

Who are 5-10 industry titans that you want to connect with? Put them in a Google Sheet and start the process below.

Step 1: Stay OUT of their inbox

There is nothing worse than getting a LinkedIn message or InMail from someone you have zero interaction with, and they are asking for a favor. Do not do this.

Step 2: Routinely interact with their content

To play it safe, respect people's time and respect their inbox. If they are a titan in your industry, it's likely they get 30-40 messages every single day. Be different by respecting their inbox.

Before asking them to connect, interact meaningfully with at least 10 pieces of their content. Meaningful interaction is a thoughtful, professional comment that furthers the discussion.

Most comments on LinkedIn are generic, so you'll stand out and have a better chance of being selected as "top comment". This will help get you noticed.

Step 3: Create a "solo recognition" post

This typically will get flagged by LinkedIn as spam and also won't win you any points with those titans if you make spammy posts tagging too many people.

I often see people on LinkedIn create a spammy post where they ask a question and then tag 20 titans in their industry.

Instead, when you find a post that really resonates with you, create your own post and call out that ONE titan. Tell them how much their post helped, and tag only them. This is the fastest way to a connection.

Step 4: Connect meaningfully

If you have stayed out of someone's inbox, interacted with their posts regularly, and created a "solo recognition" post, then it could be the right time to connect. When you send a connection, make it custom.

Audience Boosting Interactions

Use the "top" and "recent" sort function

The automatic sorting of your LinkedIn feed is set to "top" where you'll see top posts from your network. The "recent" view helps you find new posts early and increase your odds of becoming a top comment.

When you're one of the first thoughtful commenters, you can earn more likes, profile views, and followers from that thread.

Daily interaction baseline

Leave 5 thoughtful comments per day on people in your niche. Build a spreadsheet of creators you follow and comment before publishing your own post.

TIP: post visibility improves when your own post gets 30 interactions and 10 comments in the first hour.

5 comment examples

- "Great point on {topic}. We tested similar and saw {result}. Have you seen this in {context}?"
- "Strong take. Most people skip {step}. Your line on {specific line} explains why results stall."
- "I like this framing of {idea}. For early-stage creators I'd add {practical step} first."
- "Big takeaway: {one takeaway}. This alone can save months of trial and error."
- "Agree on {point}. One respectful challenge: {counterpoint}. Curious on your view."
